It’s common to say that trees come from seeds. But how could a tiny seed create a huge tree? Seeds do not contain the resources needed to grow a tree. These must come from the medium or environment with which the tree grows. But the seed does provide something that is crucial - a place where the whole of the tree starts to form. As resources such as water and nutrients are drawn in, the seed organizes the process that generates growth. In a sense, the seed is a gateway through which the future possibility of the living tree emerges.

Ineffective Change Management - a withering tree

- A significant percentage of organizational change efforts fail to meet expectations of key stakeholders.
- In a recent survey, HR leaders who worked in public, for-profit organizations noted that their organizations undertook on average more than 5 major change initiatives during the 24-month period leading up to the survey – most of which were unsuccessful.
- Natural “germination” does not work in change implementation; as with most seeds, better and more consistent results can be achieved through strategic and methodical activity.
- A large number of change initiatives are often undertaken simultaneously which decreases the clarity of each individual initiative while failing to provide a holistic view of the context of the organization.
- Organizations that do not take a carefully planned, proactive approach to change often find themselves forced to adjust later – it becomes difficult to recover.

<th>Description</th>
<th>Consequences</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Inadequate Root System</td>
<td>inappropriate root-sized ball resulting in transplant shock and extended establishment timelines.</td>
<td>Failure to “ready” the organization for change. Lack of mitigating activity to minimize risks and mobilize change.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poor Selection</td>
<td>failure to select the right seeds given desired outcomes, environment, and natural resistance to common insects and disease.</td>
<td>Failure to identify the stakeholders required to align and commit to the change given people risks, issues, and desired change outcomes.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Impatience</td>
<td>rushing the planting, monitoring, and growth process. Treating growth as an “event” rather than a staged process.</td>
<td>Expecting people to “change” overnight. Failing to recognize the phases of the change curve and the transition that stakeholders must experience.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Improper Watering</td>
<td>inconsistent watering contributing to suffocation of roots.</td>
<td>Inconsistent communications and leader behaviors contribute to disengagement and de-motivation. Misdirected and ad hoc activity.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Neglect</td>
<td>failure to care for, and address issues in a timely manner which threatens the health of the seed and the potential for future growth</td>
<td>Lack of leader sponsorship and commitment to change. Lack of strategic engagement plan which threatens adoption and commitment levels.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Failure to Monitor</td>
<td>failure to pay attention to the landscape and seasonal changes that occur. Adjustments are not made in a timely manner.</td>
<td>Lack of implementation of change effectiveness evaluations for obtaining feedback to inform change approach tweak requirements.</td>

Deloitte’s Change Management Methodology and Framework
Planting the Seed: Deloitte’s “Heart of Change”

Our strategic change management approach is based on eight steps associated with successful change. These eight steps, developed by John Kotter, provide an approach to successfully managing the key people risks for any significant change.

Ensuring that there is a clear vision for what the program is trying to achieve from the outset and that leaders are actively driving the vision to create the right climate.

Communication, change activities, and workforce transition plans provide the mechanisms for ensuring capabilities are developed to enable success.

Implementation plans, sustainment plans, and alignment to HR programs sustain momentum and ensure appropriate levels of support to employees post transition.

Our People Dimension of Transformation methodology forms the foundation of all activities within this journey.
Growth strategy: Deloitte’s people dimension of transformation methodology

Transformational change management draws on 8 distinct dimensions which drive change. We leverage these dimensions when partnering with our clients to proactively manage the change throughout the cycle of the transition by appropriately addressing impacts and business readiness priorities.

Change Management Dimensions

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Dimension</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>People Risk and Impact Management</td>
<td>Change implications must extend beyond technical and procedural change into changes in behaviors and capabilities. Understanding the people related risks is a key component of understanding and addressing change issues.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leader Alignment and Stakeholder Engagement</td>
<td>Identifies the individuals or groups of people that need to be engaged throughout the change process – identifies people with authority, power and influence who will visibly lead the change. Examples: Directly affected employees, Executive, partners (e.g., application teams), suppliers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Communications</td>
<td>A targeted communications plan is needed to ensure that employees, managers, leaders, and other external stakeholders are engaged in the change initiative through compelling communications</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Culture</td>
<td>Aligns stakeholders with organization values by driving behaviors that are consistent with the future desired culture of the new organization</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Organization Design and Governance</td>
<td>Develop appropriate structures and governance to support new processes and optimize resources to support the change.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Workforce Transition</td>
<td>Develop and implement a detailed plan to maximize transition benefit with minimal disruption to productivity throughout the change life cycle.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Talent Management and HR Programs</td>
<td>Align HR strategies, programs and practices with, and proactively address the organization’s changing talent needs as a result of the change transformation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Learning and Capability Transfer</td>
<td>Provide knowledge, tools, and training to help employees operate successfully in the new environment as a result of the change and future state.</td>
</tr>

People Risk and Impact Management

Desired outcomes
Understand the people-related risks, issues, and impacts of the change to inform the change management strategy and plan.

Sample activities
- Develop stakeholder inventory and conduct stakeholder analyses
- Conduct change impact assessment
- Conduct risk analysis
- Evaluate readiness for change

Sample deliverables
- Stakeholder inventory
- Impact analysis
- Readiness assessment

Sample tools
- Stakeholder inventory, impact assessment, risk wheel

Leader Alignment and Stakeholder Engagement

Desired outcomes
Sustained change requires personal commitment at every level of the organization. Some stakeholders will be sponsors who will help shape the transformation vision and plans – leaders will need to be targeted first.

Sample activities
- Consider impact and people risks to inform leader alignment plan
- Develop leader education and sponsorship plan
- Develop stakeholder engagement plan according to segmentation

Sample deliverables
- Leader alignment plan
- Stakeholder engagement plan

Sample tools
- Leader/stakeholder engagement matrix, engagement gap assessment
Communications

Desired Outcomes: Communicate for buy-in through the development and implementation of a robust communications plan that incorporates opportunities for feedback, facilitates continuous dialogue and cascading of key messages, tailors messages to different audiences, motivates action, and deploys messages that are consistent, compelling, relevant, and timely.

Sample Activities:
- Develop robust communications plan targeted to each stakeholder group based on issues and impacts identified and transformation progress

Sample Deliverables:
- Communications Plan

Sample Tools:
- Communications Approach, Communications Plan

Culture

Desired Outcomes: Challenge existing cultural characteristics (e.g., functionally-based, hierarchical) that may present an obstacle to meeting transformation requirements and introduce new reinforcement programs that recognize and sustain desired behaviours consistent with the new strategy and vision of the organization.

Sample Activities:
- Identify cultural characteristics consistent with target state
- Evaluate current culture and identify gaps
- Develop a culture transition roadmap

Sample Deliverables:
- Culture transition roadmap

Sample Tools:
- Culture Print
Organization Design and Governance

Desired Outcomes
Develop and implement organization designs, protocols, and governance within the organization to support change objectives and the future of the organization.

Sample Activities
- Identify organization structure and governance requirements to support future state (use to inform workforce transition and training plans)
- Develop design principles to be applied throughout the change process

Sample Deliverables
- Future state operating model and governance structure
- Design principles

Sample Tools
- Operating Model, Design Principles, Governance Model

Workforce Transition

Desired Outcomes
Develop and implement a detailed plan including staffing models, job profiles, and job design criteria to maximize transformation benefit with minimal disruption to productivity.

Sample Activities
- Identify business critical talent and develop retention strategies
- Develop workforce transition plan (including redeployment, knowledge transfer, etc.)

Sample Deliverables
- Workforce Transition Plan

Sample Tools
- Workforce Transition Approach, Workforce Transition Plan
Talent Management and HR Programs

Desired Outcomes
Work collaboratively with HR to align strategies, programs, and practices to address changing people requirements.

Sample Activities
- Align and leverage existing HR and talent programs to change (e.g., performance metrics, recognition, policies, procedures)
- Redeploy, transition, or recruit talent as per workforce transition plan

Sample Deliverables
- Develop plan to integrate and leverage talent management and HR programs
- Develop talent management plan

Sample Tools
- Talent management plan

---

Learning and Capability Transfer

Desired Outcomes
Develop and implement an overall training approach that addresses knowledge, skill sets, and capability gaps required for successful implementation.

Sample Activities
- Conduct skill gap assessment to inform training plan
- Develop training plan for all impacted stakeholder groups

Sample Deliverables
- Training Plan

Sample Tools
- Training Approach

- Phase I: Plan/Analyze
  - Develop stakeholder inventory and segments
  - Conduct people impact & risk analysis
  - Develop change readiness approach
  - Assess communications and training infrastructure
  - Understand culture (values, behaviors)
  - Define operating model and governance requirements
  - Assess current structure
  - Assess current HR and talent management programs

- Phase II: Design
  - Develop leadership alignment plan
  - Define behaviors that support the transformation (identify gap between existing culture and desired state)
  - Develop plan (evolving) to initiate employee engagement
  - Develop communications plan (evolving) - create key messages
  - Define culture assessment approach
  - Assess impacts (e.g., role, team) based on identified organization structure and governance
  - Evaluate existing skill sets and conduct skill gap analysis to define training requirements

- Phase III: Build
  - Implement leader alignment plan
  - Build leader sponsorship capability
  - Continue development of stakeholder engagement plan and begin to implement
  - Create communications/change toolkits for leaders
  - Identify change agents to facilitate engagement plan and communications
  - Develop cultural roadmap
  - Continue development of communications plan and begin to implement
  - Develop workforce transition, talent management and training plans

- Phase IV: Deliver
  - Implement leader alignment plan (monitoring and adjusting approach)
  - Leverage leaders to sponsor and facilitate change by owning employee engagement (as per stakeholder engagement plan)
  - Incorporate culture transition roadmap into engagement plan
  - Implement communications, workforce transition, talent management, and training plans
  - Develop evaluation methods to measure change effectiveness
  - Ensure knowledge transfer to client and ownership of future change activities

- Phase V: Implement
  - Conduct change effectiveness evaluations
  - Monitor and adjust all plans (leader, engagement, communications, workforce transition, training) according to feedback
  - Sign off on knowledge transfer and transition change internal resources
  - Develop sustainment plan

Outcomes

- Stakeholder, risk, and issue identification
- Understanding of current state and readiness for change
- Understanding of structure/existing processes
- Initiation of leader alignment and employee engagement)
- Skill set and knowledge gap identification
- Increased leader sponsor capability and stakeholder engagement
- Understanding of workforce transition requirements
- Reinforcement of behaviors consistent with desired state
- Complete knowledge transference to client
- Workforce transition and training implementation
- Tweaked change plan as a result of feedback from effectiveness measures
- Sustainment plan to maintain momentum
- Client ownership

Effective Change Management - an ecosystem

Clean, Cool, Air
- Air quality (environment, culture) is improved
- Resistance/pollution mitigated
- Oxygenated/charged environment has positive impact on teams and individuals

Increased Land Value
- Healthy trees (organizations) attract businesses and tourists
- The “soul of a community” – sends a message about care, investment, and priorities
- Healthy seeds = critical talent; increased organizational value
- Attract new seeds

Stronger Relationships
- Correlation between amount of trees (positive seeds) in a community and interaction/engagement with others
- Opportunities for discussions related to individual motivation, values, and performance

Health Check Cadence
- Constant monitoring of seasonal changes (engagement) and landscape (environment)
- Adjustments to care (evolving change plan) based on requirements

Alignment of Efforts
- A park of healthy, diverse, and highly interdependent trees contributing to a single overall system
- Collaborating by living (working) towards a common vision
